the construction in the construction of VACATION ON FARM

By MRS. NELLIE GORDON. (Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspa per Syndicate.)

Murray Benton sat in the window of his club, gazing listlessly out at the hurrying crowds.

The frown on his face deepened as he mentally reviewed the terse advice the doctor, whom he had just visited, had given him.

"Murray, lad, you have too much money for your own benefit," he had said. He was an old friend and was privileged to be frank. "Get away from the 'bright lights' and your cronies and get into the country. Fresh air, regular hours and a bit of work, too," he added, with a sly twinkle, "are what you need. If you keep on at the rate you have been going I can't answer for the consequences," he fin ished, relapsing again into seriousness.

"Bosh!" mused Murray, "Doc is a calamity howler. There's nothing wrong with me."

But, even as he argued with himself, he realized that the doctor had told the truth. Being rejected from every branch of the war service at which he applied confirmed the doctor's verdict, as well as the feeling of lassitude which he tried to fight off.

His eye chanced to fall on a newspaper spread on the table near by, on which a large picture of Uncle Sam with arms outstretched pleaded, "Be a Patriot. Go to Work on a Farm." The listless expression on Murray's face changed to one of interest, and he exclaimed, "Why not?" and rushed out of the room, much to the amazement of the other occupants.

* * * * * At a desk in a tiny office in one of the downtown buildings sat a rather frail, pretty girl, eating a meager lunch and scanning a newspaper. A frown marred her forehead as she seemed to be doing some mental figuring. "No," she decided, hopelessly. "I can't afford a vacation, and I'm so afraid that I won't be able to stand the heat."

She turned back to the paper, and for the first time she noticed the outstretched finger of Uncle Sam pointed straight at her, it seemed, with the words underneath: "Be a Patriot. Spend Your Vacation on a Farm."

Renewed hope showed in every line of face and figure, as she reached for a sheet of paper to slip into her type-

"Ruth Merton," she told herself, "you are going to be a farmerette."

In the diming room of a tiny farmhouse Murray Benton paused to observe himself, resplendent in new overalls and jumper, before joining the new

"What's he doing on a farm, anyways?" questioned another. "Doing women's work, when he ought to be wearing khaki or blue. So the anything but flattering comments flew fast and furious, while Murray, the most popular and sought after man in his set, listened above

Suddenly one little girl, who had not spoken before, flashed up. "You girls should be ashamed of yourselves, making fun of the poor chap. If you had looked at him you would have seen that he is in a run-down condition, not fit for active service. How do we know but what he is here recuperating, so that he can join later on? You might at least have given him the benefit of the doubt." And she walked away, head high and cheeks flaming, as her outburst was as much a surprise to herself as to her companions. As she walked down the little lane hurrying footsteps sounded behind her. As she turned she met the smiling eyes of Murray Benton. "Miss Merton (you see, I have found out your name from the 'boss'), I want to thank you very much for your kind defense of an unknown. And I want also to tell you that you guessed right when you said I wasn't fit. I've tried every branch, and they've thrown me down, so I guess that all I'm good for is 'women's work,' as your friend said.' "Perhaps a summer out of doors will pet you into condition again," she

"I hope so," he answered. "I do want to get into real service, but"glancing at her in a manner that made her color very charmingly-I'm mighty glad that I happened to come here."

On a cool October day Doctor Grenville stood looking down on the busy street when a resounding whack on his shoulder made him wince, and he turned to see who his boisterous vis-

The doctor then became aware of a second visitor, a charming young lady, whose pink cheeks grew still pinker at the medical man's wondering gaze.

"Doc, I want you to meet Miss Ruth home folks. Merton, erstwhile farmerette, and future Mrs. Benton," and Murray Benton's eyes beamed with happiness, as his sweetheart and old friend shook hands warmly.

We are in the midst of the greatest financial task of history. A task that will test the patriotism and tax to some degree the resources of the nation, but a task that can and will be

Upon the farmers of the nation rests a heavy responsibility. The production of the food necessary to win the war is wholly upon the shoulders of the tillers of the soil. He must also do his full duty in providing the sinews of war that are so vital to victory

Mor than lighty thousand sons of farmers in this district are wearing the uniform of their country. Thousands more will soon be in camp. To help protect his loved ones, to support the country whose institutions have blessed him, to shorten the period of bloodshed and to hasten victory every farmer in the Fourth Federal Reserve district should purchase Liberty Bonds to the very limit.

Let there be no slacker dollars in the hands of our farmers. Let us make our motto for the Fourth Liberty Loan Drive "Another bond in every farm home in the district."

The organized farmers have earnestly striven to respond to every request and every call of the government. Let every grange member and every farmer render all possible assistance to the cause so near to the hearts of all. The successful termination of the great bond drive now on will be one more indication that the sacrifice and suffering of the present will soon terminate in Victory and

Is Uncle Sam's Credit As Good As Kaise 's?

Did you know that Germany had launched her Ninth War Loan? She did recently. She offers it at 5 per cent. She probably will raise all she asks.

It is in our hands to show Germany with the Fourth Liberty Loan just what the difference is between Germans and Americans.

"Unclean!" "Unclean!"

In olden times the lepers were not allowed to uncover their horrible disfigured faces and when they walked the streets they had to cry aloud, "Unclean!" "Unclean!" so that all might know and avoid them.

So in the days to come Germany, the moral leper of the world, will be avoided by all clean peoples.

The sooner we put this foul Hun leper under restraint, the better for the whole civilized world.

His friends should do this for him, as he is one of the most faithful and efficient men in Congress. Go to the polls and vote him November 5th. Get your neighbor to de likewise.

President Wilson's terms were laid down for acceptance, not for negotiations and parley. Read Germany's socalled peace note carefully and you will see they only want a rest from nighting. The President's answering inquiry is to make them admit that or go farther, so they can not hereaf-ter claim to have offered in good faith to accept those terms. CORNELL PROFESSOR BELIEVES BONDS SHOULD BE BOUGHT BY RURAL FOLK.

By L. H. Bailey.

Agricultural Expert, Cornell University .The response of the farming people to the Third Liberty Loan was gratifying. It was what was expected, as soon as the question was put before the farmers directly. I hope that the Fourth Liberty Loan will be taken still more freely by the rural people.

No great war can be won in these days without the active co-operation of all the people. We contribute by giving ourselves, our business, uphoiding the hands of government, and loaning the government our money.

This money has been accumulated because we have prospered, and because government has protected us. The investment is the best, and the spirit that takes Liberty Bonds is the same spirit that makes good crops. The farmers' crops have saved us.

We cannot think of losing this war We cannot run the risk of an agriculture controlled by a headstrong, unnoral state, such as would be imposed on us if Prussia were to succeed.

Agriculture lies at the foundation of our systems of democracy; its opinion must count in our public policies: this means that farmers must take such an active part in the maintenance of the war that they will have a right to be heard. They have taken this part thus far, and I know that they will be steadfast to the end.

Don't Trade Liberty Bonds For Anything

To successfully finance the war it is necessary that owners of Liberty Bonds hold their bonds if possible. Where for any good reason it is necessary for them to turn their bonds into cash they should seek the advice of their bankers.

Liberty Loan Bonds are very desirable investments, and crafty individuals are using various means to secure them from owners not familiar with stock values and like matters. One method is to offer to exchange for Liberty Bonds stocks or bonds of doubtful organizations represented as returning a much higher income than the Bonds.

There are various other methods used and likely to be used, some of the gold-brick variety and others less crude and probably within the limits of the law. All offers for Liberty Bonds, except for money and at market value, should be scrutinized carefully. The bonds are the safest of investments and have non-taxable and other valuable features.

To hold your Liberty Loan Bonds, if possible, is patriotic. To consult your bankers before selling them is wise.

We went to the rifle range week bemiles from here and we hiked it in three hours. We crossed the Talapoosa river about eight miles from the forks of the Alabama river. It is a pretty river but not like Big Sandy. We had a week's practice shooting and all made good. As for myself I think I won a sharpshooter's medal. Haven't seen my record yet.

We had a rainy day yesterday and didn't have to drill, just had some first aid work. We have a fine bunch of officers to explain things to us.

We had a big parade Thursday. It was some sight. Six thousand Sam-mies all marching along and Old Glory waving everywhere. It made me feel fine to know that I was one of the parade, helping to protect our country and pray to God to help us and I am sure he will do so.

I must say a few words in behalf of the Red Cross. It is the finest thing out for the boys. I want to thank them for the dinner they gave us in Ashland, Ky., and what they did for us at Birmingham, Ala. What the American Farmer May Expect

If any American farmer is still foolish enough to think that Germany has any intention of living up to her talk of "peace without annexations or indemnities" the action of the Hun wherever he has got the upper hand is sufficient answer.

We know what happened to Russia through the deluded Bolsheviki pacifists and we know what happened to the people of Roumania, shamefully betrayed by the Bolsheviki.

In the treaty forced upon Roumania by the brutal Hun merciless conditions were imposed, including the monopoly of the agricultural products and the exploiting of the Roumanian farms for the benefit of Germany.

To secure the labor to work these farms, the commanders of the enemy armies which still occupy Roumania have called upon the whole male population of the country between the ages of 14 and 60, under severe penalties, to carry out the work ordered by the German authorities.

When one of the Roumanian delegates complained that the terms were unnecessarily harsh, the Germans replied that, on the contrary, they were "extremely moderate compared to those which will be laid down in the treaties to be imposed on France, Italy, England and America."

How do you farmers like such a prospect? How would you like your farms to be controlled by Huns and everyone-you and your children-compelled to work for the Hun?

Can you still think that there is any possible satisfactory outcome of this war except a complete destruction of the German power?

And if this destruction is to be done for all time every man, woman and child in America must help. Your share is to buy LIBERTY BONDS and buy them now.

It" anyhow, sooner of later; might as well use it sooner. Then you are absolutely sure that the corn will loosen from your toe so that you can peel the whole thing off painlessly with your fingers, in one complete piece—just like peeling a banana. It takes a second or two to apply "Gets-It." There's no fussing or puttering. Corn-pains will vanish—that'll keep you sweet while the "Gets-It" does the rest. Nothing new for corns has been discovered since "Gets-It" was born. ADVANTAGES-

Teachers of broad experience and adequate equipment. Christian environment. Active religious influences. A Christian character is builded on the Rock of Eternal Truth and will stand unshaken amid the shock and storn of life's battle. This ought to be the first consideration in selecting a school. Here you have Christianity and religious influence in positive terms.

COURSES-

Academic-Good high school or college preparatory of fered. All the required subjects and a number of elec-tives. Standard course admitting to any college.

Normal—Course offered meeting the State requirement. Teachers also have best opportunities in preparation for examination and what is better a thorough preparation for successful teaching. Commercial—Strong course in bookkeeping, short hand, typewriting and correlative subjects. Our graduates equipped to fill the best positions. Unusual opportunities are now offered through the business course.

Music—Piano and Voice. This department has well merited the praise it receives. We have had far mose than the average success and the course for this year is to be strengthened.

Expression—Kentucky is noted for oratory. It is a talent of marvelous power and when properly developed and cultivated makes one master of assemblies. We believe it is a grave mistake to neglect this talent and are offering a splendid course in physical culture and

Grades—So many people living in the rural communities desire for their children better school advantages and at the same time home care. In our elementary department we offer this opportunity. Our teachers are grade uates having had special training for the grade work, and in our dormitory the teachers will continue in charge. This gives you the advantage of the best schooling and also the same careful oversight of the

OUR DORMITORY—Girl students will be required to board in the dormitory where they will be under the immediate care of the teachers. This is not done to curtail liberties but to give to these young ladies that helpful sympathetic oversight that is so essential in the development of a wise and stable character.

Germany Asks For Peace Parley REPLY

Armistice Plea Issued By Prince Maximilian, Who "Desires to Avoid Further Bloodshed

Wilson Asked to Invite Belligerents To Send Delegations to Conference Huns Are Willing to Accept American Program as Basis For Negotiations

Germany's Message To Wilson.

Amsterdam (By the Associated Press).- The text of the note for warded by the Imperial German Chancellor, Prince Maximilian, to President Wilson, through the Swiss Gov ernment, follows:

"The German Government request the President of the United States to take in hand the restoration of peace, acquaint all the belligerent states of this request and invite them to send plenipotentiaries for the purpose of opening negotiations. It accepts the program set forth by the President of the United States in his message to Congress on January 8 and in his later pronouncements, especially his speed of September 27, as a basis for peace negotiations. With a view to avoid ing further bloodshed the German Government requests the immediate conclusion of an armistice on land and water and in the air.'

It is announced that Turkey will take a similar step.

Copenhagen .- Prince Maximilian, of Baden, the new German Imperial Chancellor, announced in the Reichstag that he had sent a note through the Swiss Government to President Wilson, in which he had requested Mr. Wilson to take up the question of bringing about peace and to communicate, with the other belligevents regarding the subject. The Chancellor told the Reichs tag he had addressed his note to the President of the United States because Mr. Wilson, in his message to Congress on January S, 1918, and in his later proclamations, particularly his New York speech on September 27, had proposed a program for a general peace which Germany and her attes could accept as a basis of negetiations.

Berlin,-Emperor William issued a proclamation to the German army and navy in which, after announcing that the Macedonian front had crumbled, he declared that he had decided, in accord with his allies, again to offer peace to the enemy

The text of the Emperor's proclamation reads:

"For months past the enemy, with enormous exertions and almost without pause in the fighting, has stormed against your lines. In weeks of the struggle, often without repose, you have had to persevere and resist a numerically far superior enemy. Therein lies the greatness of the task which has been set for you and which you are fulfilling. Troops of all the German states are doing their part and are heroically defending the fatherland on foreign soil. Hard is the task, My navy is holding its own against the united enemy naval forces and is un waveringly supporting the army in its difficult struggle.

"The eyes of those at home rest with pride and admiration on the deeds of the army and navy. I express to you the thanks of myself and the fatherland. The collapse of the Macedonian front has taken place in the midst of the hardest struggle. In accord with our allies I have resolved once more to offer peace to the enemy, but I will enly extend my hand for an honorable peace. We owe that to the heroes who have laid down their lives for the fatherland, and we make that our duty to our children. Whether arms will be lowered is a question. Until then we must not slacken. We must, as hitherto, exert all our strength unwearily to hold our grounds against the onslaught of our enemies. hour is grave, but, trusting in your strength and in God's gracious help, we feel ourselves to be strong enough to defend our belover fatherland. "Wilhelm."

EPIDEMIC SPREADS IN SOUTH

Army Cases Are Decreasing; Pneumonia Claims 781 Lives.

Washington.-While a continued de-Spanish influenza at army camps was shown in reports to the office of the Surgeon General of the army, the spread of the malady among the civilian population over the country apparently still is far from checked. Reports to the public health service showed that the disease is spreading rapidly in the South and that it also was epidemic in portions of the Middle West and far West, heretofore free from it. South Dakota was added to the list of new states reporting the disease in epidemic form, while new outbreaks were reported from a number of other states. Eleven thousand seven hundred and fifty new cases of influenza have been reported by all army camps. This was a sharp decrease over the daily average last week. New cases of pneumonia also deaths were fewer, 781...

Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky., reported 927 cases and Camp Dodge, Iowa, increase at Camp Meade, Md., where epidemic continues to subside at Camp Devens, Mass., only four new cases of pneumonia and 40 of influenza being reported. Conditions at Camp Dix. London.—The city of Douai is still N. J., also showed improvement, with
